

Catholic Scouting Recognitions

The Archdiocesan Catholic Committee on Scouting (ACCS) is seeking nominations for individual and unit awards. The ACCS annually recognizes those adults, Catholic and non-Catholic, and units who have contributed significantly to the Catholic Scouting program and the spiritual development of youth in Scouting.

The ACCS awards the Bronze Pelican to persons who repeatedly impact unit programs or groups of Scouts earning a religious emblem. The St. George, awarded by the National Catholic Committee, honors a person who has made a major program impact over the years. If you know of such a person, they do not have to be Catholic, please nominate him or her.

In addition, Catholic-chartered packs, troops and crews could qualify for national quality unit recognition. There are three levels of awards; Bronze, Silver, and Gold. The Catholic Quality Unit Award each year recognizes units meeting certain requirements.
